

If you're here for anything other than the HugeBoomer thing, DARK thing and Person thing, you'll be unfortunately disappointed to hear that that's all I'll publicly talk about. Everything else is much smaller, and more importantly, is private, and therefore will be handled as such, with private apologies (if I haven't already given them), It's none of the Internet's business.

Secondly want to mention, people are allowed to not take my apology, should be a no brainer, but this is something that some people don't get, so to clarify: it is the person I am apologising to's choice to accept it or not, I did, after all, fuck up horribly.

If anyone remembers the extremely self destructive document admitting to a lot of shitty things I did, then you'll remember a specific section referring to three alt accounts I had created, called HugeBoomer, DARK and Person. I'm going to have to be short on the Person thing since very little details still remain public, and I don't remember a lot of it. (dates are in comments, since yeah, while not yesterday recent, is still recent.)

I do remember, however, that I made a good few videos under the "Person" account, all troll videos, though aside from Hound King, I don't think too many have a platform. The other thing of course, is the fact that I called an anonymous person on discord the hard r n word. Must specify to get the actual severity across, I called someone the word, unironically, as a derogatory insult. Of course, I did try to apologize to the anonymous person, but I don't think they use their account anymore, so I doubt they saw it. The only reason I bring this up however, is because I do want to apologise to the black community at large, this isn't acceptable under any circumstance, it's extremely offensive for obvious reasons. and it's behaviour I won't repeat.

Second of all with DARK, there isn't much other than being a troll and pretending I wasn't, to my knowledge this will be more general, but essentially I'm apologising to everyone who was deceived by my lie. I wanna say sorry for the complete dishonesty of my actions, and for letting you believe someone was after me despite the fact nobody really was. Though this won't exactly be the last time I apologise for dishonesty in this doc.

The final part is HugeBoomer, which is likely gonna take up the majority of this doc. So HugeBoomer was initially just a twitter account that went around accusing people of vile shit, usually me. It started by me accusing myself of pedophilia, which on it's own would be problematic enough, since it makes a mockery out of actual victims and makes real predators harder to catch, ut it would proceed to get worse, as I would begin to accuse people like SpyroTheBugBoy of it too, alongside racism, whose case is especially egregious since he was dealing with two seperate dramas of his own at that time, which meant any of them could've tried to validate the claim, making everything much harder for him. He wasn't the only person accused, though. I accused Pepper-Tei of racism, I believe I called RetroRombi a racist and a pedo too, I believe off of memory I accused The Master Reaper of pedophilia too, and through searching the name on twitter, I accused Nova Star-Shock of pedophilia too. Obviously these were all false, there's more but before this starts becoming a bible of apologies to write:

I would like to apologise to Halofan (since I accused him of blackface), Pepper-Tei, Master Reaper, Nova Star-Shock and SpyroTheBugBoy, for levying false accusations at you, not only was that fucking irresponsible, but it was also just gross, especially since my motive was literally just that I was bored, I'm sorry for quite literally using all of you to start a drama, and throw false allegations your way, all while pretending for over a year that he was not me. I'm sorry for treating you all like tools, when you're not, you're living breathing human beings with thoughts and feelings. I'd also like to apologise to people who have been affected by things like pedophilia, because, ye, this is gross. Finally, I'd once again like to apologise for dishonesty, from what I can tell, I told everyone who would listen about Boomer and tried to get them in the drama in some form or other, and purposefully misled them into thinking they were some dumbass who just didn't like me, so yeah, I apologise for that too.

HugeBoomer would also send really creepy messages, the two examples I could find is when I asked Master Reaper if he wanted to get married and when I asked RetroRomi if he wanted to date me. Casual reminder, dropped this out of nowhere and acted like a total creep towards them, all while concealing the fact that it was actually me. So yeah, I also apologise for being a fucking creep in your dms too. Speaking of dms, we also have an instanced where an account called Darkened had a dm conversation with Boomer, where he stated he wished to get people to dox me, and then kill me, reminder, / was saying this, but double whammy, Darkened was an account that belonged to me as well, even if I no longer have it now, yes, I fabricated a dm conversation for the purposes of stating I wanted to get someone to kill me. For what? To incriminate Boomer further? Honestly the intent at this point hardly matters when the action is so dishonest. So once again, I have to apologize to everyone who read that for dishonesty.

Concluding thoughts are, I fully expect this to be read and for people to not forgive me, which, yeah, makes sense, as much as I want to improve and am currently in the process of trying to do so, only time will tell. I want to say I've improved somewhat, at the very least I don't think I've created an alt or intentionally slandered anyone since, but that shouldn't at all take away from the severity of these actions, it's not like these were random posts from 2014-16, these were as recent as a year and a half ago. It's going to be a journey to get better, I fully expect I'll fuck up again a few times, but at least now, I have both recognised the issues with my behaviour, learned it came from a drama hungry personality, and little care for others, have given out the apologies the victims deserve, and am currently working to fix both issues.

Ultimately though, the conclusion is this, I am sorry everyone, these actions are reprehensible, and if you want to accept my apology, that's fine, if you don't, that's also fine, and it's very understandable.